Welcome to Canada

H. M. QUEEN ELIZABETH

H. M. KING GEORGE VI

Greeting From Crossfield And District.

The citizens of Crossfield and district join with those of all Canada in extending to Their Most Gracious Majesties, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, a most hearty welcome to the Dominion of Canada.

May their journey across Canada and return be one of pleasure. May they learn to know us better and we to know them better and the bonds of friendship, love and loyalty be even more firmly cemented as the result of their visit.

May God's blessing and protection accompany them during their stay in our fair Dominion, and remain with them throughout the years.

GOD SAVE THE KING.

W. J. WOOD, Mayor

AT CALGARY THIS FRIDAY,
MAY 26.

Canada's King and Queen

His most Excellent Majesty, King George VI, and Her most Gracious Majesty, Queen Elizabeth, are now visiting Canada.

Canadian people in many parts of this land will have the opportunity of showing their affection to their King and Queen, and their loyalty to King George as the head of the Government of Canada, Great Britain and of the Dominions, Territories and Possessions beyond the Seas; in short as the head of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Within the structure of the British, Canadian and Empire constitutions, both written and unwritten, the King or the Monarchy occupies a most definite and important position.

Our King governs his peoples not in a despotic way as did certain Kings in olden days, but now with the consent and advice of the people through the medium of the King's Ministers who are duly elected by the people themselves.

It must not be thought from this, however, that the King is merely a figurehead or an automaton simply registering the decisions and decrees of his ministers. He has certain rights and privileges which it is his duty to exercise whenever he feels in his judgment that the welfare of the various countries comprising the British Commonwealth of Nations, or of the Empire as a whole, require it to be done. He has the privilege and the right for instance, of making suggestions to his Ministers, of advising and even of warning them, and it is absolutely necessary of refusing to consent to legislation or to policies proposed by his Ministers.

The King, under the British constitution, is peculiarly fitted to exercise these rights, duties and privileges for the particular reason that the Monarchy is continuous. The King, representing the Monarchy, does not go in and out of power. He is completely above, and apart from, all party ideas and policies and dissensions; and since his office is continuous, he is able because of the experience of living through his own individual lifetime, and also through close association with those Kings who have preceded him, to carry in his mind and heart in an unbroken golden thread the true underlying ideals which the British people have ever cherished, namely, the ideals of Liberty, Freedom, Justice and Tolerance.

The members of our present Royal Family, following the example set by Queen Victoria, have also taken upon themselves an additional duty or responsibility that is not required of them by our constitution, and that is of caring particularly for the interests of the plain people, the common people one might say, over whom they reign.

A study of the speeches, pronouncements and actions of the members of our Royal Family will disclose that the advancement of the welfare of the poorer classes of people is ever close to their hearts, and is an important and cherished object of their unfaltering efforts and endeavours.

Whatever may be considered by other races to be the best form of government suited to their particular national conditions, the British people undoubtedly have found themselves to be most satisfied with a system of government which is headed by a King or Queen, perhaps for the particular reason that British minds and hearts do not take kindly to abstract ideas. Abstract words do not mean very much to the average British person. We are people of action, we like concrete and definite things so that when we are thinking of our government, or of our constitution, we are more satisfied somehow to find all this expressed in the form or symbol of a living person whom we can see and respect, and who in his thoughts, feelings and ideas is much the same as we are. Such a living symbol of government we can understand; it seems to appeal vividly to our imaginations; it is all somehow satisfying to our nature.

When, therefore, the good people of Canada have the privilege of showing their affection and loyalty to their King and Queen, they are actually seeing, in the person of the King, the living Government and Constitution of Canada, Great Britain and of all the other Dominions, Territories and Possessions across the Seas, which comprise the Great British Commonwealth of Nations. Actually, therefore, it is not only the King of Canada that is visiting these shores, but it is too, in his Royal Person, the governments of all the other countries comprising the British Commonwealth of Nations. In short, in this Royal and Regal Person is to be seen a symbol of the whole British Empire.

In this country of Canada some thirty or more races of people have come from the far ends of the earth to find homes, and some of them have found prosperity beyond their fondest dreams and hopes, and all have found those precious things which the King represents—Liberty, Freedom and Justice.

The British have ever possessed the great talent of being able to live and let live in the midst of other peoples, and because they possess this great virtue, they have been able to live everywhere. The King represents this spirit also.

But quite apart from the fact that the King is the head of the Government of Canada, and of the other countries comprising the British Commonwealth of Nations, he is held in loving affection for an entirely separate reason, which is that he embodies, with his wife Queen Elizabeth, and with the Royal Princesses, Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, that institution which is the true bulwark of all British people—a happy home and a simple and very human loving family.

Board of Trade Meeting.

A meeting will be held of the local Board on Thursday, June 1st, at eight o'clock, in the Oliver Hotel. Important business will be brought up at this meeting and the President and Executive Committee desire that as many members as possible be present.

Special May 26 Train Two Minutes Earlier

In the C.P.R. advertisement of last week we stated the special train would leave Crossfield at 8:55 a.m. This should have been 8:53, making a difference of two minutes.

School Children To Receive Medals

The school children of Crossfield are being presented with medals in honour of Their Majesties visit to Calgary on Friday next, by the Board of Trustees. It is hoped the children will wear these medals on this special occasion.

High School Program Friday, May 19

An appreciative capacity audience attended the high school program, in the U.F.A. Hall, on the evening of May 19. The program was a unique one in many respects, demonstrating what our boys and girls are capable of doing under a little inspirational guidance.

If any numbers were to be picked out for special comment, the very pretty arrangement of "The Cuckoo" might be mentioned. The gymnastic display showed much skill and training, considering the limited time available for this work on the school program of studies. The Folk Dancing was pretty and well executed.

The principal mentioned, in his brief introductory remarks, that all the activities on the program were in keeping with the spirit of the new high school set-up and that there was no reason that he could see why the Crossfield School should be less progressive than any other in adapting itself to activities which have values that can not be obtained from books alone. This community will look forward with interest to additional accomplishments of the Crossfield high school next year.

And remember, you can get picnic supplies, for Friday, from the Chronicle.

Village Assessment Notices Mailed

The Village of Crossfield Assessment notices have been mailed to each individual taxpayer. Any having complaints as to their assessments are requested to send same to the secretary not later than June 1st, when the matter will be taken up by a court of revision which will be held by the council at a later date and advertised in these columns.

Local Ball Players To Play Torrington

The Torrington ball players will visit the Crossfield Seniors this Sunday, at 2:30, playing on the local diamond. The Torrington team won at the Olds tournament last year. So, friends, with the local boys in good trim, we will be favoured with a real good brand of Canadian Ball.

Rain Over Weekend Brings Smiles of Joy

A good shower, which commenced on Friday, brought over an inch of moisture to the dry ground in this district. Although the grain did not suffer, it was in need of rain, and, with seeding almost completed, conditions look brighter than ever.

Elsewhere in these columns you will find the amount of rain received.

King George VI

A HISTORY IN THIRTY CHAPTERS

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

"The sacred academy of man's life,
Is holy wedlock in a happy wife"

—Quarles.

When the late King George the Fifth had granted his permission for the marriage between the Royal Prince, who is now King George the Sixth, to one of his subjects, Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, the present Queen Elizabeth, it was not the first time that the beloved monarch had agreed to such a match because he had consented previously to the marriage of Princess Mary to an English aristocrat. However, it was the first time since the days of King Charles the Second that a Sovereign had consented to a marriage between a son, who was in direct line for succession to the throne, to a commoner of the realm. King Charles the Second permitted his brother, who later became King James the Second, to marry Ann Hyde in 1660, and this brought two Queens to the throne, namely: Queen Mary, the Consort of King William the Third, and Queen Anne. In other words, it was the first time in two hundred and sixty-three years that a Royal Prince in direct line to succeed to the throne had obtained permission to marry a subject of the King.

This was one reason which aroused the interest of everyone in this match, but the personal popularity of the Duke of York and Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon was the direct cause for the intense public interest in this marriage.

On April 26th, 1923, huge crowds gathered everywhere throughout London to celebrate the marriage of the beloved King's second son, Rich and poor, Prince and pauper, soldiers, statesmen, diplomats, and indeed every type of man, woman and child in the land crowded into the streets to show their keen interest and enthusiasm. The entire route of the procession from the bride's home in Bruton Street the march from Buckingham Palace, the trip through Whitehall to the Abbey, and elsewhere, huge throngs lined the streets and it was only with the greatest difficulty that the mounted police and soldiers were able to prevent the masses from breaking through the lines.

The wedding itself took place in the historic Westminster Abbey and though the beautiful pomp of a Royal British marriage marked the ceremony, it is noteworthy that twentieth-century ideas prevailed throughout the event and this captured the heart and mind of the people throughout the whole British Empire. The bridegroom was attended by the present Duke of Windsor and his brother Prince Henry, and the bride who wore a beautiful wedding dress of ivory chiffon mousseline, with pearl embroideries on cloth of gold, had eight bridesmaids, including two children, Cecilia Lyon and Elizabeth Elphinstone, both her little nieces. The Archbishop of Canterbury solemnized the marriage and the Archbishop of York delivered the address. The couple signed the register in the famous Edward the Confessor's Chapel and a new chapter in history had been written.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

As an act of courtesy "Letters to the Editor" are published, and the Chronicle cannot be held responsible for the opinions expressed.

I might mention that in the local improvement districts in the Cochrane Constituency last fall, there was somewhere in the neighbourhood of eight thousand dollars worth of road work done under this plan.

One of your farmer correspondents, I believe, is a resident of Beaver Dam district. I have lately been informed that the Beaver Dam Council has expressed its willingness to co-operate in the Tax Remission scheme, which will place them in line for grants as available.

In conclusion, I would say that until something along these lines is done by municipal councils, efforts of Boards of Trades or other organizations to obtain government grants are being applied in the wrong place,

GEO. BUTLER,

Madden Alberta,

Dear Editor:

I did not take issue with Rural Ratepayer on the question of provincial grants, as he states in his letter last week, May 8, but on the rights of taxpayers to ask for such grants. I note that he concedes my point, but attempts to offset it by introducing government propaganda.

Fire Brigade Meeting To Be Held Wednesday

Wednesday next, May 31st, is the day set for the meeting of the Crossfield Volunteer Fire Brigade, which was to have been held Friday last, but, owing to so many people being away, the date had to be changed.

The brigade of ours is made up of men who are out for action and, by the steps already taken we will be assured of proper fire protection. Practices will be arranged and further entertainments, (the proceeds of which will be for the purchase of a suitable motor vehicle) will be planned.

To have further action, a good turnout is needed at this meeting, to be held Wednesday next, May 31st. Remember the date, and it is to take place in the Fire Hall. Let's show the fire boys that we are behind them and with them when help is necessary.

Staff Notes.

There had been a lot of chatter going on at CFAC between two members of the staff about being hermits and having dessert islands. Finally Margee McQuillin, Secretary (one hermit) asked Frank Fleming, "Good Morning Neighbor" announcer, (other hermit) to have breakfast on her mythical island Thursday morning. Frank agreed, stating he wanted bananas, grapes and cocoanuts. Each considered the other was joking, but Around Field And Barn.

By E. M. C.

It would seem that in quite a few cases the soil-drifting that resulted from spring cultivation was the farmers own fault.

When you see a large, powerful outfit racing across a 60 to 160 acre summerfallow at from 3 1-2 to 5 miles per hour, tossing dry soil into the air and fluffing it into flour, it is to be expected that the soil will move out. Why wouldn't it?

Considering the nature of our soil, and the tendency to dry conditions, some farmers seem to be inviting disaster.

Horse sense seems to have been traded off with the horses.

It is childish to blame modern farm machinery. There is nothing wrong with that (except the price), but as the plane can make a merry flight or wreck a city, so modern equipment can improve or wreck a farm.

Summerfallow should not be worked too late in the fall, and a cover crop should be sown early enough to make a good growth (and go easy in the spring) Weeds can be pretty well checked by that time if the work has been done at the right time during July and early August, up to the 20th. Then sow about a bushel of oats to the acre in strips across, and around next to road allowance, to prevent soil or snow drifting onto roads. "There is a 'Soil Drifting Prevention Act.'"

A.Y.P.A. Notes

Next meeting at the Rectory June 6th at 8:30 p.m.

Frank thought he'd be smart and arrive for breakfast. He did. And there on the front porch is Margee waiting to direct him to the right house—and for breakfast—bananas, grapes and cocoanuts!

The other day a member of the publicity department, not unconnected with this column, was left with a free evening and no gal friend. He was really worried—having no little black book for reference. He bemoaned the fact to Ruth Meadows, who at that moment was standing over the switchboard. A few moments later a phone call came through to the publicity department with, "Is that you, —? One moment please, here's your date." Say, Blondes are rather nice, aren't they? Ruth is thinking seriously of starting an escort bureau.

The World of Wheat.

By H. G. L. Strange

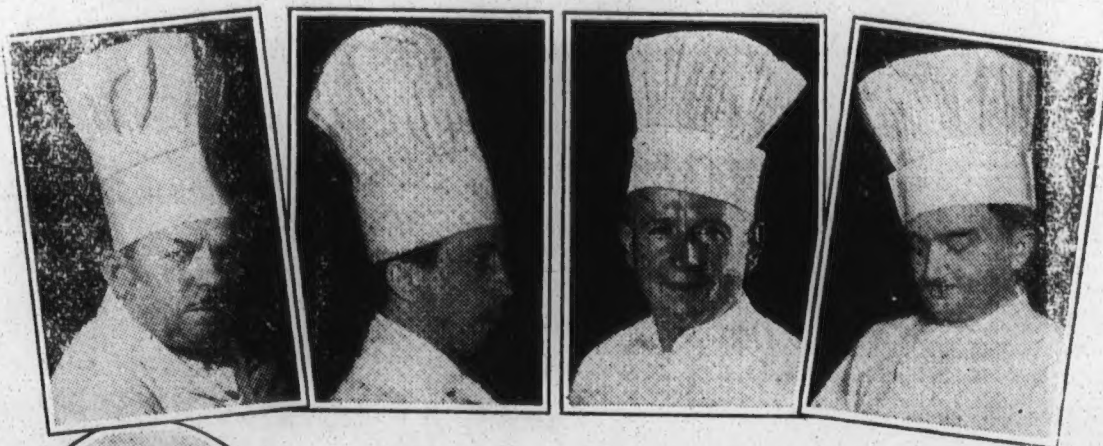

The United States Department of Agriculture calculates that the organized poisoning for grasshopper control from the Mississippi River to the Pacific Coast last year saved farmers' crops worth $176,000,000. More than 400,000 farmers used approximately 155,000 tons of mixed bait on about 30,000,000 acres and this furnished protection for more than 55,000,000 acres of crops. The Kansas City Times estimate that in the State of Kansas alone grasshoppers caused about $7,000,000 worth of loss to crops in 1938 but that the poisoning campaign saved $30,000,000 worth of crops. "Farmers in the West," said the Kansas City Times, "are now thoroughly convinced of the efficiency of the poisoning campaign and the work will go on this year on an even larger scale."

No doubt the same proportionate saving by poisoning was last year made with the crops in Western Canada, although severe losses were experienced in Southern Saskatchewan. Every

PATRIOTIC SERVICEEMPIRE SUNDAY*MAY 28, AT 3 p.m.

Under the joint auspices of the Churches supported by the officers of the Legion and the Board of Trade, a service for all patriotic Canadians and their friends will be held on Sunday afternoon, in the United Church, at 3 p.m. Following the observance of Empire Day and our glad welcome to King George and Queen Elizabeth, we will gather to express in divine service our humble joy of being a part of the British Empire. A hearty attendance is expected.

farmer, therefore, operating in the grasshopper areas of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will save himself and his neighbours from severe losses of crops and money if he will put forth his very best efforts this spring and summer to work with his Provincial and Dominion government officials, who in turn are operating jointly with those in charge of the grasshopper campaign in the United States

Canadian Pacific Hotel Chefs Arrange to Cook Royal Meals

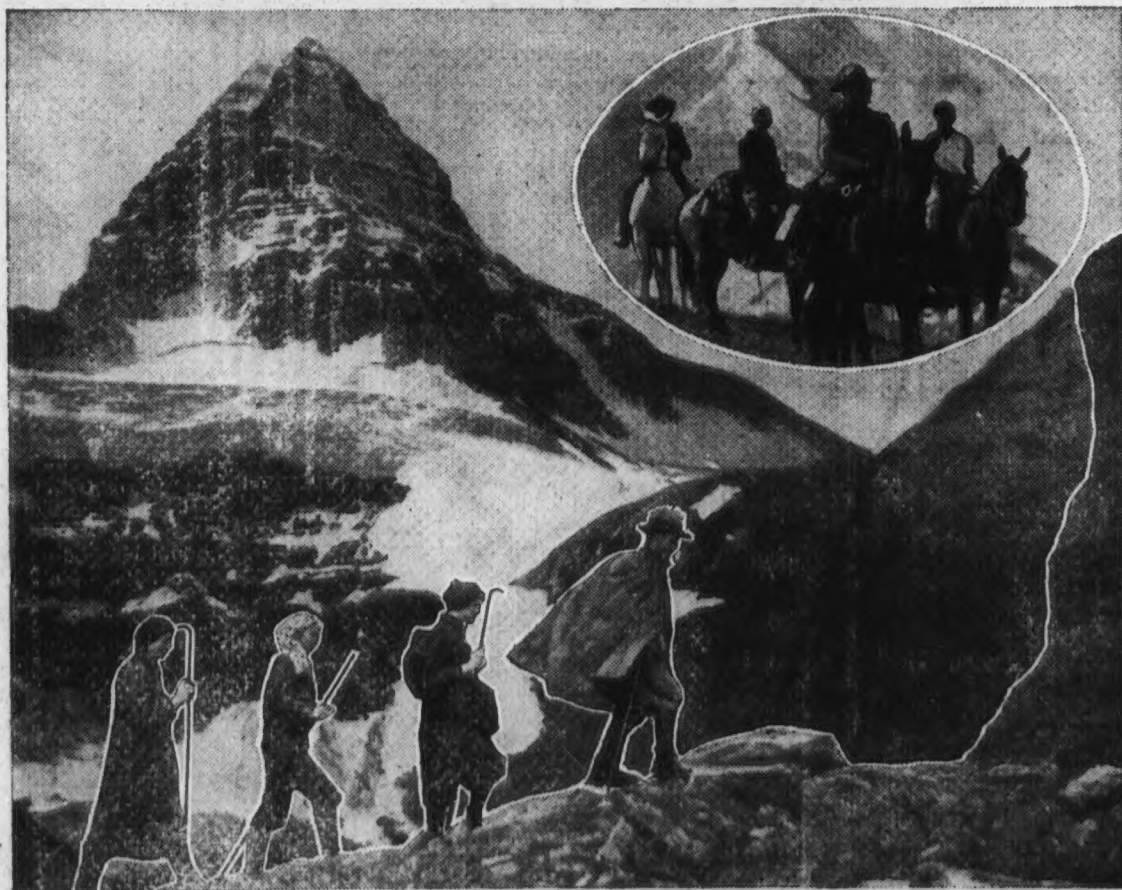

The combined life-time experience of four chefs who have worked in famous hotels and restaurants all over the world will go into the preparation of meals which will be served Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth during their visits to three of the Canadian Pacific Railway hotels, the Chateau Frontenac at Quebec City, Banff Springs Hotel in the Canadian Rockies, and Empress Hotel at Victoria, B.C.

On the day of their arrival from England, May 15, Their Majesties will be guests at a state luncheon at noon and a state dinner at night in the Chateau Frontenac at Quebec City. Chief Chef Louis Baltera, who has cooked for two former British Kings, and other world-famous figures will be in charge of both functions, assisted by Chef Raymon Charles Emil Ferry, European culinary expert and chef of the famous summer resort, Algonquin Hotel, St. Andrews-by-the-Sea. Maitre d'Hotel Harry Drewery, who has had world wide experience will supervise the banquet hall arrangements.

At Banff Their Majesties will enjoy their only real holiday of the trip and the cooking of Chief Chef Philippe Vignal, formerly of Paris, London, New York, Montreal, Italy and China, assisted by Chef Ferry. Their Majesties will be at Banff for dinner May 27, three meals May 27, and breakfast May 28.

The Empress Hotel at Victoria, B.C., farthest west of the Canadian Pacific trans-Canada chain, will be the scene of a state dinner in honor of Their Majesties, May 30, for which Chief Chef Camille Anderegge will display all the cooking artistry he gained in his native Switzerland and England before joining the Canadian Pacific in 1912. Here, too Chef Ferry of Quebec will assist. From left to right are Chefs Baltera, Ferry, Anderegge, Vignal with Maitre d'Hotel Drewery in circle.

Invade The Golden Eagle's Domain

The Sky-Line Trail Hikers and Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies will share with golden eagles and white mountain goats the glaciers, mile-high alpine meadows and scenic beauties of two of the loveliest sections of the Canadian Rockies on their annual outings this summer.

Starting each year from Banff Springs Hotel, the Riders on sure-footed mountain ponies, the Hikers on foot, explore new sections of the Rockies. Carefree days are passed camera-hunting big game, fishing in virgin lakes, roaming in alpine gardens, mountain climbing, or basking in the sun, roused from lethargy only by the incantations performed thrice daily by the cook.

The Trail Riders will leave Banff Springs Hotel early Friday, July 28, riding in easy stages over the scenic High Line to Moraine Lake in the Valley of the Ten Peaks, where they will hold their closing Pow-Wow on the evening of Tuesday, August 1. A day's rest in a most interesting location is provided enroute.

The Hikers will make headquarters at a central camp in beautiful Ptarmigan Valley north of Lake Louise, August 4-7, and spend their time exploring the high country.

The Trail Riders and Trail Hikers of the Canadian Rockies' plans for this year are being received enthusiastically by nature lovers all over the world, judging from the number of inquiries reaching the secretary, J. M. Gibson, Windsor Station, Montreal.

Cremona Notes

The late rains have improved the spring crops very much, as over 95 per cent of the seeding is done.

C. Waterstreet is erecting a shop and residence on Main Street, Cremona, and expects to move into it very soon.

We noticed on the King's birthday our storekeeper, C. C. Holbrook, presented all the children with a flag, which they displayed over the town and country.

It is said that the Government Clinic is coming to Cremona, May 29-30 for the school children of the different districts.

The Cremona Young People are putting on a concert June 10 in Cremona Community Hall. This is going to be a Gala time for all, as Cremona is quite a musical town these nights in preparation for this event.

Some districts seem to be making preparations for the school children to see the King and Queen. We hear nothing about it in our neck of the woods. What's the matter?
